SOCIAL EVOLUTION.

By BENJAMIN KIDD. 8vo, cloth, $1.75.

"A book notable alike for originality and breadth, philosophical reasoning and literary attractiveness."—Chautauquan.

"The volume . . . owes much of its success to its noble tone, its clear and delightful style, and to the very great pleasure the reader experiences as he is conducted through the strong, dignified, and courteous discussion. From a scientific point of view it is the most important contribution recently made to biological sociology."—Independent.

SECOND AND CHEAPER EDITION. BY THE LATE DR. C. H. PEARSON.

NATIONAL LIFE AND CHARACTER: A Forecast.

By CHARLES H. PEARSON, Hon. LL.D. St. Andrews, late Fellow of Oriel College, Oxford, and sometime Minister of Education, Victoria. Second Edition. Crown 8vo, $2.00.

"A very remarkable and striking book. Mr. Pearson's speculations on the future of national life and character are certainly a notable sign of the times."—Times.

"It is some considerable time since we have read a book on politics with anything like the interest which has accompanied our reading of Mr. Pearson's 'Forecast'."—Saturday Review.

"A book with which many will disagree, but which will set a very large number of able persons thinking."—Academy.

"We at once confess that we have here the mature reflections of a man of superior learning and wide information. . . . The book is thoroughly interesting, and stimulating to a high degree."—Andover Review.

" . . . One of the most suggestive and stimulating books that have for a long time appeared."—New World.

NOTES IN SEASON.

GINN & Co. will publish before the fall "An Elementary Chemistry," by George Rantoul White, of Phillips Academy, Exeter, N. H., a text-book for high schools and academies, and for elementary classes in colleges.

HENRY ALTEMUS (The Philadelphia Bible Warehouse) has just ready a capital book for mothers in "The Care of Children," by Elisabeth Robinson Scovil, superintendent of the Newport Hospital and associate editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have just ready a new large-type edition of the Oxford Teachers' Bible which may easily claim to be the largest-type Teachers' Bible in the smallest compass yet made. Not only the text of the word, but the helps as well are printed in larger type than the ordinary small large type Bible.

FLEMING H. REVELL Co. will publish at once an edition of Dr. R. F. Horton's latest book, "The Cartoons of St. Mark," comprising eighteen addresses on prominent features of Mark's Gospel. They have just ready "The Bells of Is, or, voices of need and sorrow," an autobiographical record of the early prison-gate labors of the Rev. F. B. Meyer.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. have in preparation "The Marquis de La Fayette in the War of the Revolution," with some account of the attitude of France towards the War of Independence, by Charlemagne Tower, Jr.; "Henry IV. and the Religious Wars," by Edward T. Blair; "Pediatrics: the hygiene and medical treatment of children," by Thomas Morgan Rotch, M.D.; "My First Book," the experiences of Walter Besant, James Payn, and twenty other well-known novelists, edited by Jerome K. Jerome, and profusely illustrated; and "Madonna, and other verses," by Harrison S. Morris.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS add to their announcements for the summer season as follows: a new story in the Hudson Library, by Anna Katharine Green, entitled "Miss Hurd: an enigma;" "Lost and Found," by Mary Putnam-Jacobi, the second number of the Autonym Library, in which library Mr. Crawford's "Upper Berth" was recently issued; "The Life and Correspondence of Rufus King," comprising his letters, private and official, his public documents, and his speeches, edited by his grandson, Charles R. King, M.D.; "The Story of Venice: from the earliest times to the fall of the Republic," by Alethea Wiel, a new number of the Story of the Nations series; "Cicero, and the Fall of the Roman Republic," by J. L. Strachan Davidson, a new issue of the Heroes of the Nations series; and "The Flute Player, and other poems," by Francis Howard Williams.

BUSINESS NOTES.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—Creore & Nickerson, who have for several years past dealt exclusively in subscription-books, are now branching out into the regular retail book business at 116-118 4th St., S. Catalogues of new and old books, circulars, etc., will be appreciated.

MONTREAL, CANADA.—Alfred T. Chapman, late manager of Wm. Foster Brown & Co.'s up-town store, has opened a book and stationery store on his own account, at 2407 Catherine Street. Mr. Chapman is well known to the book and stationery trades, both in Canada and the United States, for his rare business and personal qualities, and he carries with him into this new venture the hearty best wishes of all his friends.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.—Lewis B. Raymer has just opened up, as manager, another Raymer's "Old Book" Store, and would be pleased to receive catalogues, circulars, and information about bargains in the book line—new or old.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. 4to: under 30 cm.; O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Appleton's dictionary of New York and its vicinity. New rev. ed. for 1894. N. Y., Appleton, 1894. 288 p. maps, 16°, flex. cl., 60 c.; pap., 30 c. [2420]

Binney, C: Chauncey. Restrictions upon local and special legislation in state constitutions. Phil., Kay & Bro., 1894. c. 6+195 p. O. hf. shp., $1.50. [2421]

Buckland, Rev. A: R. The heroic in missions: pioneers in six fields. N. Y., T: Whitaker, 1894. 112 p. D. cl., 50 c. [2422]

Sketches of missionaries who worked and died in China, Japan, Africa, in the western wilds of Canada among the Indians, and in India, are embraced in six chapters, called "The heroism of patience," "The pioneer in Japan," "The graves by the Victoria Nyanza," "A pioneer in the far west," "The pilgrim missionary of the Punjab," and "The men who died at Lokoja."

Burrage, H: S., D.D. A history of the Baptists in New England. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., 1894. c. 317 p. D. cl., $1.25. [2423]

Although many histories have been written of the Baptists, the society thinks there is room for still another work—at once more extensive and more minute, in so far as our own country is concerned. This is the first volume of a series in which the volumes will be devoted to special sections of the country. While it contains much that is old, it also embraces a great deal that is new. It goes back to the earliest days of the colonies and is brought up to the present time.

Butler, W: Allen. Mrs. Limber's raffle; or, a church fair and its victims: a short story. New ed. N. Y., Appleton, 1894. c. '75, '94. 2+162 p. D. cl., 75 c. [2424]

First published in 1876, without the author's name. An amusing account of how the law against lotteries was enforced in the case of Mrs. Limber and her friends, who held a fair, in which a hundred dollar doll was raffled for the benefit of the church.

California. Supreme ct. Citations and conflicting cases from the organization of the court down to and including v. 100; by King & Leonard. Dublin, Tex., National Citation Co., 1894. c. unpagd, D. im. mor., $7.50. [2425]

Chester, Evelyn. Miss Derrick: a Boston society girl's diary. N. Y., G. W. Dillingham, 1894. c. 297 p. D. pap., 50 c. [2426]

The author professes to give a true picture of Boston fashionable society, through the confessions of a girl's diary. The so-called "follies" described by the heroine consist of flirtations with married and unmarried men verging upon indecency, skirt-dancing, cigarette-smoking, and champagne-drinking carried to excess by women as well as men. Miss Derrick ends her career by eloping with a married man, after having had a succession of lovers and experiences.

Cobban, J. Maclaren. The red sultan: the remarkable adventures in western Barbary of Sir Cosmo MacLaurin, Bart., of Monzie in the County of Perth. Chic. and N. Y., Rand, McNally & Co., 1894. c. 5+313 p. D. (Rialto ser., no. 64.) pap., 50 c. [2427]

A story of pure adventure; while the work shows fidelity of local coloring, the incidents are at times highly improbable and bordering on the horrible. Rider Haggard seems to have been the writer's model.

Crooks, G: R., D.D., and Hurst, J: F., D.D. Theological encyclopædia and Methodology: on the basis of Hagenbach. New rev. ed. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1894. c. 4+627 p. O. (Lib. of biblical and theological lit., v. 3.) cl., $3. [2428]

First published in 1884. A general introductory work to the theological sciences; gives an outline of the importance, nature, and history of the four great divisions of theological study, together with a bibliography of the English and American literature. Among the many important bibliographies which it contains are: Philosophy of religion (11 p.); The literature of rationalism (5 p.); Literature of biblical introduction (8 p.); Critical editions of the Bible and helps to the study of criticism (14 p.); The biographies of Christ (12 p.); Literature of church history (31 p.); American church history in U. S. (14 p.); Religion and science (8 p.); Literature of dogmatics (8 p.).

Cunningham, D. J., M.D. Manual of practical anatomy. Phil., imported by J. B. Lippincott Co., 1894. 2 v., il. 8°, cl., $7. [2429]

Dickens, C: A tale of two cities. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1894. 16+447 p. D. (Classics for children.) bds., 70 c. [2430]

The story is preceded by an interesting introduction by Emma M. McRae, of Purdue University.

Didon (Père.) Belief in the divinity of Jesus Christ. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1894. 235 p. 8°, cl., $1.25. [2431]

Fleming, May Agnes. Lost for a woman: a novel. [New issue.] N. Y., G. W. Dillingham, [1894.] c. '80. 456 p. D. (Madison sq. ser., no. 76.) pap., 25 c. [2432]

Foster, Clement Le Neve. A text-book of ore and stone mining: for the use of mine owners, mine managers, prospectors, and all interested in ore and stone mining. Phil., imported by J. B. Lippincott Co., 1894. il. 8°, $10. [2433]

Frederic, Harold. Marsena, and other stories of the war time. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1894. c. 4+210 p. S. cl., $1. [2434]

Contents: Marsena; The war widow; The eve of the fourth; My Aunt Susan. Phases of the Civil War, as seen chiefly in small northern towns and villages, are illustrated by these stories.

Gowers, W. R., M.D. A manual of diseases of the nervous system. 2d ed. enl. and rev. V. 2, Diseases of the brain and cranial nerves. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1893 [1894.] 1069 p. il. 8°, cl., $4.50. [2435]

Haig, Alex. Uric acid as a factor in the causation of disease: a contribution to the pathology of high arterial tension, headache, epilepsy, mental depression, gout, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, and other disorders. 2d ed. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1894. 11+400 p. il. 8°, cl., $3. [2436]

Hall, F. de Havilland. Diseases of the nose

* In this list, the titles generally are verbatim transcriptions (according to the rule of the American Library Association) from books received. Books not received are indicated by a prefixed asterisk, and this office cannot be held responsible for the correctness of their record.

and throat. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1894. 12+524 p. 2 pl., il. 12°, cl., $3. [2437]

Heyse, Paul. A divided heart, and other stories; tr. into English, with an introd. by Constance Stewart Copeland. N. Y., Brentano's, 1894. c. 3-240 p. por. S. cl., $1.25. [2438]

Although Paul Heyse is the author of two strong novels, "Children of the world" and "In Paradise," his work during the past fifteen years has been confined almost entirely to short stories, of which he has produced an enormous quantity. Three specimens are offered in this volume, "A divided heart," "Minika," and "Rothenburg son the Tauber." They illustrate German home life and the domestic virtues.

Hope, Anthony, [Anthony Hope Hawkins] A change of air. N. Y., H. Holt & Co., 1894. c. 10+248 p. por. S. cl., 75 c. [2439]

Dale Bannister, a Victorian poet, both famous and rich, rents a house in a small English town, with the design of studying country life and country people. He carries with him from London a congenial circle of men and women friends, whose wild doings greatly scandalize the good people of Market Denborough. The poet's earlier anarchistic writings are recalled as evidence of his total depravity, and for a time he and his friends are ostracized by society. The tide, however, turns, but not until a sad tragedy is enacted and a fresh love-story almost spoiled. Prefaced by an interesting biographical sketch of the author, who is the writer of "The prisoner of Zenda."

Hughes, Daniel E. Compend of the practice of medicine; 5th (physicians) ed., rev. and enl., including a complete section on skin diseases, and a new section on mental diseases. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1894. c. 568 p. il. 12°, flex leath., $2.50. [2440]

Huxley, T. H. Discourses biological and geological: essays. [V. 8 of "Collected essays."] N. Y., Appleton, 1894. 12+388 p. D. cl., $1.25. [2441]

Contents: A piece of chalk; The problems of the deep sea; Some results of the expedition of H. M. S. Challenger; Yeast; The formation of coal; The border territory between the animal and the vegetable kingdoms; A lobster, or, the study of zoölogy; Biogenesis and Abiogenesis; Geological contemporaneity and persistent types of life; Geological reform; Palæontology and the doctrine of evolution.

Illinois. Supreme ct. Reports of cases; Norman L. Freeman, rep. V. 148, cont. cases in which opinions were filed in Oct. and Nov., 1893, and Jan., 1894, and in some cases in which applications for rehearing were denied at the Jan. term, 1894. Springfield, Ill., Norman L. Freeman, 1894. c. 801 p. O. shp., $3. [2442]

Iowa. Compilation of the laws and legal forms for the convenience of farmers, mechanics, merchants, bankers, and lawyers; business manual, comp. by E. G. Kindred. Corning, Ia., Weed & Widner, [1894.] c. outside title, 148 p. (hf. ads.) S. pap., $1. [2443]

Jackson, Frank G. Theory and practice of design: an advanced text-book on decorative art. Phil., imported by J. B. Lippincott Co., 1894. il. 8°, cl., $2.50. [2444]

Jones, Ja., and Binmore, H. General legal forms and precedents, for ordinary use and with explanatory changes adapted to special cases, also clerk's entries in law and chancery, and mercantile forms of every character. Chic., E. B. Myers & Co., 1894. c. 4+929 p. O. shp., $6. [2445]

Keene, J. Harrington. The boy's own guide to fishing, tackle-making, and fish-breeding: a plain, precise, and practical explanation of all that is necessary to be known by the young angler. Bost., Lee & Shepard, [1894.] c. 200 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [2446]

The author is an intelligent and a practical fisherman, descended from a long line of fishermen. He gives the why and wherefore of all things that are likely to perplex the young angler, as well as the making of each piece of tackling, giving the methods he has himself put in practice—all illustrated by suitable diagrams. The work is finished by a comprehensive chapter on the breeding of fishes.

Kiely, Rev. J. M. Occasional sermons and addresses. N. Y., Appleton, 1894. c. 7+274 p. D. cl., $1. [2447]

McClelland, M. G. The old post-road. N. Y., The Merriam Co., [1894.] c. 163 p. 1 il. S. cl., $1. [2448]

A romantic story of Maryland in the early days of the century. The mail coach is held up by "jay-hawks" on the old post-road between Baltimore and Havre-de-Grace, and a young man of good family is suspected of being one of the robbers. The sequel is his trial and a romantic act of self-sacrifice on the part of the girl who loves him.

Medicus, Ludwig. Qualitative analysis: for use in instruction in chemical laboratories; tr. by J. Marshall. Phil., imported by J. B. Lippincott Co., 1894. 8°, cl., $1.50. [2449]

Méneval, Claude François (Baron) de. Memoirs illustrating the history of Napoleon I., from 1802-1815; ed. by his grandson, Baron Napoleon Joseph de Méneval; with pers. and autograph letters. In 3 v. V. 3. N. Y., Appleton, 1894. 3+541 p. O. cl., per vol., $2. [2450]

See notice of complete work, "Weekly Record," P. W., July 7, '94, [1171.] The third volume treats of the ill-fated Russian expedition, the collapse in the Peninsula, the invasion of France by the allied powers, the abdication and banishment to Elba, of Marie Louise and her unfortunate child, of the Congress of Vienna, the return from Elba, Waterloo, and the exile in St. Helena.

Meredith, G. Lord Ormont and his Aminta. N. Y., C. Scribner's Sons, 1894. c. 5+442 p. D. cl., $1.50. [2451]

On a thread of romance Meredith has strong epigrams and arraignments worded by a prophet and a seer, putting clearly to thoughtful men and women the all-powerful element of sex in human aspirations and undertakings; the outgrown need of great armies and navies; the far greater value of education and personal influence than of force and self-assertion, etc. Lord Ormont, a dissatisfied, retired Indian officer, writing a book about unfair treatment at the hands of government, his sister, Lady Eglett, a worldly wise, highly eccentric thinker, Matthew Weyburn, Lord Ormont's secretary and a school-master, and Aminta, a beautiful school-girl, who is the wife of middle-aged, careless Lord Ormont, are the characters. The problems are debated on English soil.

Michigan. Irwin's annots. supplemental to Howell's annot. statutes; by W. W. Irwin, [Grand Rapids, Mich.,] W. W. Irwin, 1894. c. 117 p. D. hf. shp., $5. [2452]

The story takes place in Berlin, and is rich in intrigue of all kinds—political and otherwise. An illicit amour, of which the Baroness Blank is the heroine, is the central motive.

Northeastern Reporter (The.) Digest of decisions of the supreme courts of Ill., Mass., O., Ind., appellate ct. of Ind., and the ct. of appeals of N. Parmele, Mrs. Mary. The evolution of an empire: a brief historical sketch of France. N. Y., W: Beverley Harrison, 1894. c. 113 p. D. cl., 75 c. [2464]
A rapid narrative of the leading events in the history of France from the Aryan migrations to the present time. The writer dispenses with superfluous details, presenting only an outline which a student may read in a couple of hours, and hope to retain in his memory. Mrs. Parmele has also written a similar sketch of Germany.

Price, W. E., comp. Paper-covered books; a catalogue; done by the editor and publisher of The Book and News Dealer. San Francisco, W. E. Price, 1894. c. 4+205 p. O. cl., $3.50; interleaved, $5. [2465]

An up-to-date catalogue of "all the paper-covered books in print and obtainable at wholesale in America." The catalogue is arranged alphabetically by author and title. The name of the publisher, the library or series to which the book belongs, with price, are given. Dealers and others will find it a most useful compilation, as it tells at a glance whether a book—in fiction or in general literature—may be had in paper—a piece of information all buyers are apt to ask for. It is printed on tough, brownish paper, that will stand constant handling, and has an index cut in the edges; the first word—author or otherwise—is printed in heavy faced type, and the page is in double columns, well spaced; altogether a convenient and easy book for reference. Lists of libraries and series and publishers represented are given; also of abbreviations used. To be followed by annual volumes.

Publishers' trade list annual, 1894: the latest catalogues of American book publishers; preceded by a complete list, by authors, titles and subjects, of books recorded in The Publishers' Weekly, Jan.-June, 1894, and by the American Educational Catalogue for 1894. 22d year. N. Y., Office of The Publishers' Weekly, 1894. 5+45+52+4530 p. Q. cl., net, with duplex index, $2. [2466]

Raimond, C. E., (pseud.) George Mandeville's husband. N. Y., Appleton, 1894. c. 2+219 p. D. (Appleton's town and country lib., no. 148.) cl., $1; pap., 50 c. [2467]

A satirical picture is here offered of the "superior" woman, who while devoting her life and writings to the dissemination of her advanced views, neglects her family both in their physical and spiritual wants. Her pseudonym of "George Mandeville" gives the key to the title. Her husband—a man with many good qualities, and some talents which might have flourished and borne fruit in a more appreciative atmosphere—becomes a spiritless nonentity. Her little daughter, who has no reason for loving her, fortunately dies young. Clever sketches are given of other advanced women and their various "fads" for improving mankind.

Ridgely, H., jr. General digest of the Delaware reports, comprising all the law, equity, and criminal reports of the state of Del., published to date, Apr. 1, 1894, and including the 5 v. of Harrington; v. 1 to 5, inclusive, of Del. chancery; v. 1 to 6, inclusive, of Houston; and Houston's criminal cases, v. 1. Dover, Del., pub. by the ed., Henry Ridgely, jr., 1894. c. 5+536 p. O. shp., $10. [2468]

Rutherford, Miss Mildred. American authors: a handbook of American literature from early colonial to living writers. Atlanta, Ga., Franklin Printing and Pub. Co., [for sale by Mildred Rutherford, Athens, Ga.] 1894. c. 750+29 p. por. O. cl., $2. [2469]

Both dead and living American authors are pretty well represented; the south especially finding many representatives. The method of the volume's arrangement is as follows: the divisions are "The earlier colonial literature," "The later colonial literature," "The literature of the revolution," "The literature of the national and constitutional era," "The literature of the republic," and "Living writers." A brief sketch is given of each writer, which is followed by a list of his works, and sometimes by an extract. Review questions in history follow each chapter. An alphabetical index of 29 pages includes, besides all authors mentioned in the body of the book, many others who were omitted for various reasons—with date of birth—and death also, when no longer living.

- *Simonds, W: E. A condensed treatise on the law of patents for useful inventions. [N. Y., W: E. Simonds, 253 B'way, 1893.] c. 96 p. T. pap., gratis. [2470]
- Small, Albion W., and Vincent, G: E. An introduction to the study of society. N. Y., American Book Co., [1894.] c. 384 p. D. cl., $1.80. [2471]
- "This manual," says the introduction, "should be judged by experts not as a supposed contribution to sociological knowledge, but as a proffered help in the training of beginners. It is the outgrowth of experience in teaching sociology under difficulties. It is not a report of research upon the material of social knowledge, but the proposal of a method of preliminary investigation adaptable to the use of college students." Divided into five books: The origin and scope of sociology; The natural history of a society; Social anatomy; Social physiology and pathology; Social psychology.
- Smith, Constance. A cumberer of the ground: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1894. 2+302 p. D. (Franklin sq lib., new ser., no. 752.) pap., 60 c. [2472]
- On the title-page we read: "There are some whose destiny it is to finish nothing; to leave the feast on the table, and all the edges of life ragged." To this unfortunate class belongs the hero; nothing in his life seems to find its natural consummation. Dishonesty, disaster, and deceit had blighted his youth, and sent him a penniless emigrant to Australia before taking his Oxford degree. After ten years of manual labor in Queensland an unexpected inheritance restores him to London and good society. He loves again for the second time a charming girl, who would have accepted him if he had spoken soon enough; but he hesitates, and loses her. Her life—married to a man she does not love, and his own, without aim or effort, are full of dramatic and painful incidents. The scene changes from England to Italy, and then to India.
- *Smith, Edgar F. Electro-chemical analysis. 2d ed. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1894. 143 p. il. 12°, cl., $1.25. [2473]

- The scene is laid in the Highlands of Scotland; the story is a domestic tragedy, said to have actually occurred in an old, distinguished Scotch family; the plot turns upon the great resemblance of half-brothers to each other, the bride of the one attributing to him the acts and crimes of the other.
- Spink, Mrs. G: A. The Ackley pilgrims: nine weeks' trip through Europe, summer of '92; by Mrs. G: A. Spink, a pilgrim. Providence, R. I., The J. C. Hall Co., [for sale by Mrs. G: A. Spink, Auburn, R. I.,] 1894. c. 80 p. por. sq. O. cl., $1.50. [2475]

- A middle-aged Frenchman tells a chum his first experiences in coming to Paris at the age of eighteen. He went to live with a bachelor uncle, who sublet rooms to the secretary for the mayoralty, whose wife was Rose-Lise. A little episode is told, in which the hero was used as a blind, and by which he lost forever his perfect trust in his fellow-men.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 18, 1894.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE PROPOSED CANADIAN COPYRIGHT ACT.

THE Canadian copyright act, now pending, has aroused adverse discussion in English publishing circles on the ground that it is simply a means of legalizing piratical reprinting in the Dominion. The act provides that if an English book is not printed in Canada within one month after its first publication in Great Britain, any Canadian publisher can reprint it provided a ten per cent. royalty be paid on the retail price. This royalty is to be collected by the Canadian government and, presumably, paid to the owner of the book in Great Britain. Mr. R. B. Marston in the London Publishers' Circular directs attention to the injustice and inadequacy of the measure. He points out that the act would give copyright only to books printed in Canada, and that although there is nothing at present in the proposed act to prevent the importation of a cheap English edition, yet "as it is clear that the whole thing will be a farce unless the cheap English edition can be kept out, in some form or other provision will doubtless be made to secure its practical exclusion."

No provision is made for the work being set up in Canada, and English plates may therefore be used in the Canadian reprinting. It is also proposed to exclude the American edition by a heavy duty, thus shutting the American publisher of an English book out of the Canadian market. The chief point of objection is that the intention of the bill is to legalize the publication of a writer's work in Canada without any reference to his own wishes in the matter, and that the proposed collection of royalties by the government is a provision that would be very difficult of execution. The London Publishers' Circular, commenting editorially on the measure, urges English authors and publishers to take immediate action. It is probable that vigorous opposition on their part would result in the bill being promptly set aside.

THE TARIFF BILL.

AFTER an eighteen months' fierce, and very often disgraceful struggle Congress has finally passed a tariff bill. So far as the book trade is directly concerned the changes are insignificant, in fact, the duty on printed books, and all printed matter not specially provided for, remains as before. On paper, and the ingredients that go into paper, the reduction ranges from 14 to 50 per cent., which should in a measure benefit the bookmaker. Below we reprint from the New York Herald a comparative statement of the rates of duty levied under the McKinley act and under the new law, showing in detail the reductions and increases on pulp, paper, and books; and also a list of articles on the free list:

Sec. 38 provides that after the passage of the law there shall be levied, collected, and paid, by adhesive stamps, a tax of 2 cents for and upon every pack of playing cards containing not more than 54 cards, manufactured and sold or removed, and also upon every pack in the stock of any dealer on and after that date.

THE FREE LIST.

Books, engravings, photographs, bound or unbound, etchings, music, maps, and charts, which shall have been printed more than twenty years at the date of importation, and all hydrographic charts, and scientific books and periodicals devoted to original scientific research, and publications issued for their subscribers by scientific and literary associations or academies, or publications of individuals for gratuitous private circulation, and public documents issued by foreign governments.

Books and pamphlets printed exclusively in languages other than English; also books and music in raised print, used exclusively by the blind.

Books, engravings, photographs, etchings, bound or unbound maps and charts imported by authority or for the use of the United States or for the use of the Library of Congress.

Books, maps, music, lithographic prints and charts, specially imported, not more than two copies in any one invoice, in good faith, for the use of any society incorporated or established for educational, philosophical, literary, or religious purposes, or for the encouragement of the fine arts, or for the use or by order of any college, academy, school, or seminary of learning in the United States, or any state or public library subject to such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe.

Books, libraries, usual furniture and similar household effects of persons or families from foreign countries, if actually used abroad by them not less than one year, and not intended for any other person or persons, nor for sale.

Paintings, in oil or water-colors, original drawings and sketches, and artists' proofs of etchings and engravings, and statuary, not otherwise provided for in this act, but the term "statuary" as herein used shall be understood to include only professional productions, whether round or in relief, in marble, stone, alabaster, wood, or metal, of a statuary or sculptor, and the word "painting," as used in this act, shall not be understood to include such as are made wholly or in part by stencilling or other mechanical process.

Paper stock, crude, of every description, including all grasses, fibres, rags, waste, shavings, clippings, old paper, rope ends, waste rope, waste bagging, old or refused gunny bags or gunny cloth, and poplar or other woods, fit only to be converted into paper.

Parchment and vellum.

Philosophical and scientific apparatus, utensils, instruments and preparations, including bottles and boxes containing the same; statuary, casts of marble, bronze, alabaster or plaster of Paris; paintings, drawings, and etchings specially imported in good faith for the use of any society or institution incorporated or established for religious, philosophical, educational, scientific, or literary purposes, or for encouragement of the fine arts and not intended for sale.

Professional books, implements, instruments, and tools of trade, occupation or employment, in the actual possession at the time of persons arriving in the United States: [new law] but this exemption shall not be construed to include machinery or other articles imported for use in any manufacturing establishment, or for any other person or persons, or for sale, nor shall it be construed to include theatrical scenery, properties and apparel, but such articles brought by proprietors or managers of theatrical exhibitions arriving from abroad for temporary use by them in such exhibitions and not for any other person and not for sale and which have been used by them abroad shall be admitted free of duty under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe; but bonds shall be given for the payment to the United States of such duties as may be imposed by law upon any and all such articles as shall not be exported within six months after such importation. Provided, that the Secretary of the Treasury may in his discretion extend such period for a further term of six months in case application shall be made therefor.

Regalia and gems, statues, statuary, and specimens or casts of sculpture where specially imported in good faith for the use of any society incorporated or established solely for educational, philosophical, literary, or religious purposes, or for the encouragement of fine arts, or for the use or by order of any college, academy, school, seminary of learning, or public library in the United States; but the term "regalia" as herein used shall be held to embrace only such insignia of rank or office or emblems as may be worn upon the person or borne in the hand during public exercises of the society or institution, and shall not include articles of furniture or fixtures, or of regular wearing apparel, nor personal property of individuals.

Paintings, in oil or water-colors, and statuary, which are now taxed, have been transferred to the free list.

The bill will go into effect at midnight of the day it receives the approval of the President, or becomes law by operation of the ten days' limitation, and not from August 1, as provided in the measure. An examination of the authorities made at the Treasury Department shows that a law cannot take effect upon a date prior to its enactment, and the Federal Supreme Court has sustained this law under the ex post facto provision of the Constitution. Many telegrams of inquiry respecting the new law have been received at the Treasury Department, and it appears from these that importers are somewhat confused as to the date the measure will take effect.

As we go to press it is still uncertain whether the President will sign the bill or allow it to become a law without his signature. At any rate, it is to be hoped that the matter will be permitted to rest long enough to enable the business world to recover from the strain that it has been under for these many months. The worst bill could not possibly work as much damage as the uncertainty that has hung over us since the Fifty-first Congress first went into session.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A WARNING.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15, 1894.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: We caution the city trade against a man who called on us yesterday and presented an order signed by an uptown bookseller to get some books. We refused to deliver the goods to the bearer as the order-slip was not printed with the firm's name. When we delivered the goods, we found out that no such order had been sent to us.

MEYER BROS. & Co.

CO-OPERATIVE BOOKSELLING.

THE London Bookseller in its issue for July prints the following somewhat forcible, yet nevertheless sound opinion on a subject that has occupied the minds of many booksellers in this country. THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY on more than one occasion has pointed out the fallacy and danger of this, at best, utopian subterfuge, and we therefore present the Booksellers' remarks without further comment:

"The sanguine people who thought it possible to establish a co-operative wholesale bookselling and news-agency business have by this time found that they made a mistake. Co-operative methods are admirably adapted to some branches of business, but to any one who knows what wholesale bookselling is, and still more, wholesale news-vending, the absurdity of trying to establish a wholesale agency on co-operative lines must have been apparent. The life of the wholesale news-agent is one of perpetual slavery. His provincial business is conducted when everybody else is in bed, and his profits are fractional, mere brokerage on the value of the goods which pass through his hands. Beside this, he has to be always present in person, or the "leakage," we will call it by that name, would very quickly swamp him. We doubt if any man ever yet selected this branch of the trade as the one he preferred. Circumstances or inheritance may have forced it upon him, one must needs get bread and butter somehow, and jam and other things to boot for wives and children, but we repeat that we doubt if any one ever selected the wholesale news trade as a matter of choice. It is purely a personal trade. The watchfulness of the breeches-pocket interest must guard with jealous care every part of its complex and multifarious machinery, or it cannot be carried on. But in a co-operative concern, where is the personal element? Where are to be found the zealous and disinterested assistants, who for the sake of their limited emoluments will work as a master will work? The "leakage" would soon over-balance the profit, and the venture would inevitably culminate in disaster. The largest business in the kingdom, of this kind, was engineered into existence by a one-man power, and the personal element in its management has never been relaxed. So it must always be. Co-operative news-vending, or bookselling, is nonsense, and those who pretend to demonstrate its feasibility can know very little of the subject with which they endeavor to deal."

A MONSTER AMONG LAW-BOOKS.

THE printed record of the trial of Dr. Robert Buchanan for poisoning his wife is the largest of the kind ever compiled.

It includes 2600 pages, 11 by 8 inches—about the size of a page of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. The latter contains 2000 pages, and the record of the Buchanan trial takes up 600 more. If placed lengthwise, page to page, the record would extend over half a mile. The book is 5½ inches thick, and is bound in calf.

Fortunately for the judges of the Court of Appeals, they will not have to wade through this bulky brief. It has been arranged that when the final argument is had before them they shall use the records in more handy form. For their convenience a seven-volume edition has been prepared. The law provides that each public law library shall receive a copy of this monster.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

AMERICAN BOOK CO. VS. WERNER CO.

IN the Illinois Circuit Court, held at Chicago August 8, Judge Crosscup rendered a decision adverse to the plaintiff, in denying the application of the American Book Co. for an injunction restraining the Werner Co. from publishing the book entitled "The Teacher in Literature." The American Book Co. claimed in its bill that the Werner Co. was infringing on its copyrights in getting out this publication. The court held that the book belonged to the defendant company and that it had a full right to publish it.

The answer of the Werner Co. to the trust's bill charged that the complainant "is a trust and an illegal corporation doing business in violation of law," but Judge Crosscup in his decision said that there was no necessity for considering that phase of the question.

The suit was bitterly fought on both sides. The defendant, by engaging in the school-book publishing business several years ago, came in direct competition with the plaintiff, and the fight, it is said, was one of principle, the dispute over "The Teacher in Literature" being used as a means to arrive at the real issue.

The book published by the American Book Co., the copyrights of which were claimed to have been infringed upon, is known as "The Schoolmaster."

PROTECTION TO ARTISTS.

A DECISION by Judge Putnam in the United States Circuit Court at Boston, filed on the 8th inst., holds that an artist having copyrighted a painting, may restrain reproductions of the painting, and that a bill in equity for an injunction may be maintained by one to whom the artist has sold the right, and who has taken out a copyright in his name.

The decision was given in the case of Emil Werckmeister (Photographische Gesellschaft, Berlin) vs. the Pierce & Bushnell Manufacturing Company, of New Bedford, Mass. G. Naujok, a resident of Germany, painted a picture called "Die heilige Cecilie," and later executed an instrument conveying to the complainant the exclusive right of reproduction. The painting was publicly exhibited at Munich, and afterward sold, and its present location is unknown. The complainant, whose American branch is located at 14 East Twenty-third Street, New York, secured a copyright and filed a photograph of the painting at Washington. The defendant subsequently sold in this country a photograph, which, it was claimed, is an infringement. The court ordered a decree for the complainant.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF NATIONAL NEWSDEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE eleventh annual convention of the National Newsdealers', Booksellers', and Stationers' Association was called to order on the afternoon of the 15th inst., in the large hall of the Union Square Hall, 8 Union Square, New York City.

The convention was the largest ever gotten together by the Association. There were present upwards of fifty delegates from every part of the United States, while formerly only Eastern and Central States were represented at the meetings.

Among the delegates present were: P. J. McGrath, Brooklyn; J. P. Foley, C. B. Swift, Thomas Collen, A. F. James, J. F. McCabe, and E. C. Rahme, of Philadelphia; M. G. Nussbaum, of Norfolk, Va.; F. W. Iddings, of Grand Forks; C. W. Wildermuth, of Pottsville, Pa.; F. A. Salisbury, James Shorecross, J. H. J. Reilley, Thomas Matthews, and M. Moy, of Providence, R. I.; Thomas Lunt, H. J. McBride, Jackson Schumacher, P. J. McDermott, W. H. McKiernan, Ed. J. Nieuwland, Sr., Ed. A. Ackermann, J. Brentglass, Henry Merten, R. Pittfield, H. Leon, P. Gotthelf, and Joseph Brennan, of New York City.

The first day was taken up with the examination of credentials and the appointment of two committees. The differences between the two local associations were amicably settled, and delegates from both organizations were present. John E. McBride was the chairman of the delegation from the old association, and William H. McKiernan chairman of the delegation from the new association. P. J. Henzel, of Albany, was made chairman of the auditing committee, and A. P. Lynn, of Providence, chairman of the committee on resolutions. At the conclusion of the business the New York members invited the delegates to dinner, and in the evening took them to a music hall.

The convention was called to order on the 16th by President C. B. Swift, at 10 A.M. The delegates went at once into secret session, and proceeded to discuss certain affairs which are recognized as burning questions by the trade throughout the country. The alleged action of publishers of cheap monthly publications in withholding a fair profit from the dealers first came up for consideration, and provided a lively discussion. Munsey's and Godey's magazines were the publications which came in for the largest share of opprobrium on this score. The feeling of the convention was expressed in a strong resolution, calling upon newsdealers throughout the country to discourage the sale of all 10-cent publications on which a profit of at least three cents was not allowed to the dealers. Furthermore, the secretary was instructed to inform the publishers concerned of the action taken.

The question of an official organ for the Association was next considered. After some discussion it was decided that the Association would be better off without an official organ. On the general question of the profits obtained by the trade it became apparent that there was much discontent. The convention then proceeded to consider the question of returns in relation to the sale of daily papers.

The discussion ended in the following resolution, which was adapted unanimously: "That we do not approve of the full or unlimited return privilege on daily papers in large cities, as it is a curse to the legitimate dealers. But we ask the publishers not to exercise any discrimination in favor of retail news companies, or other large dealers."

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, M. F. Moy, of Pawtucket, R. I.; first vice-president, Thos. F. Martin, New York; second vice-president, Joseph Brennan, New York; recording secretary, Thos. Lunt, Brooklyn, N. Y.; financial secretary, J. H. J. Reilley, Providence, R. I.; treasurer, Frank A. Salisbury, Providence, R. I.; sergeant-at-arms, Thomas A. Cullen, Philadelphia; executive committee, Paul E. Schneider, Newark, N. J.; chairman, Alex. McNie, Winona, Minn.; C. W. Wildermuth, Pottsville, Pa., John E. McBride and Ed. J. Nieuwland, Sr., both of New York.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet in the evening of the 17th at the Hotel Vendome, by the Newsdealers' and Stationers' Protective Association, of New York, T. J. McBride, president. Among the guests were David A. Munro, of the North American; Dr. Worman of Outing; W. H. Henry, of Rider and Driver; John Swinton, John J. Daly of The Newsman, and representatives of the Mail and Express, Evening Post, and Daily American. Thomas J. McBride spoke a few words of welcome, which were heartily seconded by the new president, Mr. Moy. In response to the toast, "The Great Power of Our Land—the Daily Press," John Swinton made a bright speech. Speeches were also made by David A. Munro, T. F. Martin, and others.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HENRY H. KIMBALL.

HENRY H. KIMBALL, who had been connected with the book trade of Boston and Philadelphia for nearly half a century, died at his residence, 322 South Forty-second Street, Philadelphia, on the 11th inst., aged sixty. Mr. Kimball was born in Salem, Mass., December 23, 1833. When quite a boy he entered the employ of Ticknor & Fields of the "Old Corner" in Boston. He left this firm to take a position of some responsibility in the house of Little, Brown & Co. In 1868, at the time that Claxton, Remsen and Haffelfinger separated from the firm of J. B. Lippincott & Co., Mr. Kimball went to Philadelphia to take the position of buyer and head salesman in the Lippincott firm. Mr. Kimball, who at one time spent considerable time on the road, was probably better known individually to more members of the book trade than any one we can call to mind at this writing; and that he was popular, in the better sense of that often misused word, will probably also not be challenged. He was in his day, especially during his connection with Little, Brown & Co., the best-posted man on English antiquarian literature in this country. During his connection with the Lippincott Company he was the directing genius in the publication of a number of cheap editions that were phenomenally successful. In fact, so true was his feeling for what the public needed that a venture of his rarely miscarried; and if it threatened to do so he had a trick of making a success out of defeat. Mr. Kimball had been ailing with a painful affliction for some time, though very few of his acquaintances had any suspicion that his end was so near. The funeral took place on the 14th, the interment being private. We must defer until another issue the publication of a portrait that has reached us too late to accompany this sketch.

DUDLEY R. ANDREWS, for many years one of the best-known wood-engravers in the country, died of apoplexy in Brooklyn on the 13th inst. Mr. Andrews learned the art of wood-engraving with the firm of Benson J. Lossing & Barrett in New York City, and was one of the first students of the Academy of Design.

MATTHEW ADAMS STICKNEY, a well-known writer on historic and genealogical subjects, died in Salem, Mass., on the 12th inst., at the age of eighty-nine.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

IT is reported that Teresita Cauzio, Garibaldi's daughter, is writing a life of her father. The work, it is said, will give the most intimate details of the career of the Italian patriot.

DR. SAMUEL SMILES, who is now approaching his eightieth year, has written a personal history of Josiah Wedgwood, the potter, which will be published by John Murray in the course of the fall.

It has just leaked out that the recent books alleged to be by "Bertha M. Clay," are not all posthumous works by the writer who was known by that name. Street & Smith, it appears, copyrighted the name of "Bertha M. Clay," and applied it to the writings of Mrs. Charlotte M. Braeme. Since her death, several years ago, the name of "Bertha M. Clay" had occasionally been given to various writers in Street & Smith's publications.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Chinese News is the title of a new daily newspaper published in New York by Haney & Lingard. It is edited by Yung Kwai, and is the second Chinese daily paper printed, the only other one being in Hong Kong.

It was announced in London on the 15th inst. that The Saturday Review, the principal Tory weekly newspaper, had been sold by Beresford-Hope to L. H. Edmunds, a wealthy lawyer. Mr. Edmunds, who will edit the paper himself, says that he will not change the policy of the paper.

THE bound volume of The Critic (January-June, 1894, vol. XXIV.) contains more reading-matter than that for the first half of the year 1893, and many interesting illustrations, including portraits of many of the writers, notably of fiction, who have become popular during recent months—among them Beatrice Harraden, John Oliver Hobbes, Jane Barlow, etc. Since The Critic began its purely literary work in 1881 it has maintained a very even standard of merit, and during the past year has seemed to grow more enterprising and expansive, making quite a feature of up-to-date articles and the literary questions and interests of the hour, and also of illustrations valuable at the moment. From week to week it provides liberally, but its patrons can obtain a much fairer estimate of the information and entertainment they have taken almost unconsciously from week to week when they see the accumulation of facts and opinions that are embraced between the substantial red covers of its slightly bound volumes.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

CHATTO & WINDUS, London, hope to have ready shortly after Christmas the two closing volumes of "The History of the French Revolution," by Justin Huntly McCarthy.

THE remaining property of the late Worthington Company, consisting of books and plates, will be sold for the receiver, J. J. Little, on September 12, by Bangs & Co., 739 Broadway, N. Y.

GEORGE ALLEN, London, announces a new edition of Ruskin's "Harbours of England," with illustrations by Turner. The work, which has been out of print for close upon twenty years, will be edited by Thomas J. Wise.

THE VOLWALT PUBLISHING Co., 97 Sixth Avenue, New York, have just issued new editions of "In Friendship's Name" and "What Makes a Friend," both compiled by Volney Streamer, and formerly issued by Morrill, Higgins & Co.

WALTER SCOTT & Co. announce a reissue, in bi-monthly volumes, of their popular series of Canterbury Poets, which began to appear ten years ago under the editorship of William Sharp. The first volume will be "Longfellow," to be followed by "Shelley."

A NEW volume by the author of "The Prisoner of Zenda" is soon to be brought out in London by Simpkin, Marshall & Co. It will be made up of the series of dialogues by "A. H.," which have appeared in the Westminster Gazette, and will be entitled "The Dolly Dialogues."

THE unveiling of the American memorial to Keats in the parish church of Hampstead, London, on the 16th ult., was one of the most notable literary events of the season, London uniting to honor the poet's memory, and to manifest its appreciation of the generous gift.

WHAT must the Japanese think of the late outcry in England against the three-volume novel, when they publish theirs in instalments reaching up in point of numbers to 108? "The Romance of a Dog," by a Japanese novelist, is, to all intents and purposes, a library in itself.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just issued an authorized translation by Mrs. Hegan Kennard of Maurus Jókai's "Timar's Two Worlds" in their select Town and Country Library, a book which so critical a judge as the London Athenæum has pronounced "not only the author's masterpiece, but a masterpiece of European fiction."

THE Grolier Club will hold an exhibition of American book-plates on October 4-20, and requests the co-operation of collectors. Old and modern American book-plates, book-plate literature, contemporary portraits of owners and engravers of early plates will be shown, but foreign examples of particular value or interest will also be included. Intending exhibitors should send all communications to Charles Dexter Allen, who will have special charge, at his address, P. O. Box 925, Hartford, Conn.

THE Rede Lecture on "Libraries in the Mediæval and Renaissance Periods," which J. W. Clark delivered in June at Cambridge, has been published in a neat little volume by Macmillan & Bowes, of Cambridge, Eng. The lecture does not deal with books, but only with the material appliances of libraries, such as bookcases, desks, seats, and (in particular) the old custom of chaining books. Mr. Clark's special object seems to have been to illustrate the early history of what is known about college libraries from the yet earlier records of monastic libraries. The original lecture was abundantly illustrated with lantern-slides; the volume, too, contains seven illustrations—partly from old prints, partly from archaic library furniture that still survives at Zutphen, Cesena, and elsewhere.

THE work of producing the twenty-five statues and busts for the new Library of Congress, which is now nearing completion has been entrusted to a committee consisting of J. Q. A. Ward, Augustus St. Gaudens, and Mr. Adams, who are to assign each subject to the sculptor they think will be able to do it best. The committee is responsible for the results, and have power to approve or disapprove the models. General Casey, the chief of engineers, who has control of the construction of the building, has placed the entire matter in their hands, with Mr. Spofford as literary critic. The statues for the great reading-room are to be Homer and Shakespeare for the division of Poetry; Angelo and Beethoven for Art; Newton and Henry for Science; Herodotus and Gibbon for History; Plato and Bacon for Philosophy; Columbus and Fulton for Commerce; Solon and Blackstone for Law; Moses and St. Paul for Religion. On the exterior of the building are niches for nine busts, and the subjects selected for these are Franklin, Demosthenes, Dante, Irving, Macaulay, Sir Walter Scott, Emerson, Hawthorne, and Goethe.

PROF. MAHAFFY describes in the London Athenæum a papyrus roll forty-four feet long, covered with Greek text, which has just been acquired by Flinders Petrie. It is a document of the third century B.C. Much of the papyrus has been injured, but sufficient remains to make it readable. It has been studied in large part by Prof. Mahaffy and B. P. Grenfel. It is a series of ordinances regarding the control of state monopolies. There are regulations for the growing of vines and wine-making, which were under state supervision. There were wholesale vintners, apparently, who obtained certain privileges from the state. There were regulations of a similar character in regard to oil. There is no mention of olive oil, but of oil made from "sesame, from the croton plant, from some sort of poppy, and from gourds." The date of the papyrus, Prof. Mahaffy writes, presents no difficulty. It was issued in "the twenty-seventh year of Ptolemy, the son of Ptolemy, and his son Ptolemy." The names fix the date either in the year 260 or 264 B.C. This papyrus will be known in future as the "Monopoly Papyrus."

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

PERCY RUSSELL'S "Guide to British and American Novels: being a comprehensive manual of all forms of popular fiction in Great Britain, Australasia, and America from its commencement down to 1893" (London), according to the New York Evening Post, "sadly belies its promising title. It is difficult to prove the hopeless incapacity of the writer without giving the absurd volume more space than it deserves; but perhaps it will suffice to note that in the chapter on 'American Novels' there is no mention of Mr. Howells, Mr. Cable, Mr. Crawford, Mrs. Deland, or Miss Wilkins, although in a chapter on 'Some Living Novelists, British and American,' there is to be discovered this delicious paragraph: 'Mr. William Dean Howells (1837) is an American writer, and has published much excellent verse. He is the author of several good fictions.'"

PICK-UPS.

BOOKWORM VERSES: A LIGHT LUNCHEON.

I HAD a batch of novels on my table yesterday,
Most of them bound in yellow—just the sort to throw away.
I showed them to my Bookworm, and I said, "Pray have some lunch,"
"I don't care if I do," said he; "I feel just like a munch."
"What is there on the bill of fare?" he asked, as he sat down.
"The books most widely read to-day," said I, "in all the town;
The books the people talk about, the books that dealers say
Relieve the book-man's creditors and drive the wo ves
away;
"The books you'll find all over, in the boudoir, on the train;
The books that deal with humble life, with lives high up and vain;
The books that take six pages to describe a maiden's smile;
Some of 'em tell you stories, and others teach you style.
"So sit ye down, good Bookworm, eat away and merr be;
And if I don't return by six, pray wait not up for me.
If any one should call meantime you do not wish to meet,
Hide in my book of Poems; 'tis, alas! a safe retreat."

And then I left my Bookworm to enjoy the fresh-cooked food
With which the writing caterers regale the multitude.
I staid away till seven, and returning then to him,
I found that he had gone to bed, but in the twilight dim

I caught a glimpse of writing there upon my blotting-pad—
The writing of my Bookworm, and for him it wasn't bad.
He said: "Beloved Master—I do hope you won't be vexed.

I've eaten all the margins, but I cannot go the text."

—JOHN KENDRICK BANGS, in Harper's Monthly.

AN INGENIOUS BOOK-CANVASSER.

AN Edinburgh merchant fell in with a book-cannasser the other day. The merchant was just hastening off to the station, but the book-cannasser held him and sold his book for five shillings.

The merchant travelled to Edinburgh with his book in his hand, found it extremely dull, and left it at his office. On reaching home, he was saluted by his wife with the announcement that she had paid for the book as he desired. It was the same book, the agent having watched his victim depart, and deceived the wife by the story that her husband had bought the book and desired her to pay for it.

"If I had him here, I'd kick him," said the gentleman; and then his wife exclaimed, "Why, there he is, walking down the path to the station."

Then that man hastened out of his slippers and into his shoes, meaning to pursue the rascal. But a neighbor drove up at that moment and was asked to drive down to the station to stop the stranger. Off went the neighbor like a shot, and halted the man just as he was about to get into the train.

"That man up there on the hill wants you," said the obliging neighbor.

"Oh, yes; he wants one of my books," said the agent; "do you mind taking it for him? It's five shillings."

The money was paid, and the neighbor hurried back with the prize.

"Here's your book," he cried, holding it aloft, "and I've paid the five shillings," and the merchant realized with wrath that he had three copies of a dull book that he did not want.—Weekly Scotsman.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Books for Exchange," the charge is 10 cents per line. No deduction for standing matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as "not having been received."

THREE important handbooks for the Bookseller:

ANNUAL CATALOGUES, 1893.

The Annual American Catalogue for 1893 contains:

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1893.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author-alphabet, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 1893.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same in one alphabet.
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1893.

The edition is limited, and to secure copies orders should be sent at once. The price is $3.50 half leather; $3.00 in sheets.

The Annual Catalogue for 1886, 1887, and 1891 is now out of print. But few copies of the Annual Catalogue for 1888, 1889, 1890 and 1891 are on hand.

We also supply the English Catalogue for 1893, price $1.50, paper; the Annual American and English Catalogues, 1892, can be had in one volume, half leather, $5.00.

“ONE of the most time-saving and profitable instrumentalities used by the trade.”—AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY.

READY

The Publishers' Trade-List Annual, 1894,

Contains upwards of 4000 pages, and is indispensable to any one that has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. It contains: (1.) An Index to Contributors and Advertisers; (2.) An Index to Special Lines, giving important information as to where to find what is wanted; (3.) Short-Title List, with cross and subject references, of the books issued from January to July each year, forming a supplement to the “Annual Catalogue” of the year preceding the issue of the “Trade-List Annual;” (4.) The Publishers' Trade Lists: These are the latest catalogues of American publishers, arranged alphabetically by the names of the publishers; (5.) The Educational Catalogue: This priced catalogue, which is used by the entire trade and educational interest as the most complete and reliable reference-list of school-books, is arranged on the “dictionary plan,” combining a finding-list for the trade and a subject-catalogue for the use of schools. Large 8vo, Cloth, $2.00.

Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be despatched by express unpaid. Parties so desiring can have their copies sent by mail, or by prepaid book-rate express for 96 cents per copy extra.

READY AT ONCE

The Reference Catalogue

Of Current (English) Literature,

The English Publishers' Trade List, which again makes its appearance for the first time since 1889, contains a larger number of lists than the last volume, which was over 10 inches thick. A special feature of this issue is an index to all the publishers' lists, containing about 90,000 entries. Thick Cr. 12mo, Half Bound, net, $3.50.
